Definitions – the definitions below are defined by Cornerstone Care Inc.'s Board of Directors.

SFDS Household Member - a person whose legal residence is in the immediate home and may be legally claimed as a dependent deduction on the parent(s) or guardian's federal income tax return. This is generally anyone who depends on the financial support of a parent or guardian and who may legally claim the dependent on their federal return.

SFDS Household Income – the total income that is reported as gross income on an individual, joint, head of household or married filing separate federal tax return(s). Income would otherwise include all of the gross wages, tips, social security disability, veteran payments, alimony, child support, military, unemployment, and public aid for all income earning members of the household, which would otherwise include the dependent's income.

SFDS Income Verification – process by which a SFDS Applicant's income is verified for placement within the Sliding Fee Discount Schedule. The following forms of current income level may be used for verification processes:

1. Latest Federal Income Tax Return(s) of all income earning family members. The sum of the Gross Wages on the returns will be used as annual household income.
2. Copies of at least 2 current earning statements (pay stubs, either bi-weekly or monthly), from applicable employers and government/public assistance entities, etc. The Gross Earnings of these types of proof will be annualized for proper placement into the SFDS.
3. Self Declaration of Income where the income is undocumented.

Self Declaration of Income – self appointed income by a patient/family without documented verification. Certain circumstances will arise when the Income Verification processes are unable to include documented income for a patient and/or family. These will include applicants that have "under the table" income, self employed income where the applicant is not required to file an income tax return and is otherwise not verifiable, applicant's employer does not provide earning statements to the applicant, etc. This process is not exact but will be verbally accepted and annualized in a manner that is consistent with placement in the SFDS. These situations would be the exception rather than the norm.
